39           ██████████ All right. It's 10 a.m. So we'll go ahead and get started going on 40 the record.

41           This is a deposition of Mark Meadows, conducted by the House Select Committee
42 to Investigate the January 6th Attack on the United States Capitol, pursuant to House 43 Resolution 503.

44           My name is ██████████. That's ██████████, and I'm the chief investigative 45 counsel to the select committee. With me today are ██████████, who is a senior 46 investigative counsel, and Ms. Zoe Lofgren, who is a member of the select committee, is 47 also participating remotely.

48           Based on an agreement with counsel to Mr. Meadows, this deposition was to 49 begin at 10 a.m. It is now 10 a.m., and Mr. Meadows has not appeared.

50           Mr. Meadows received a subpoena, dated September 23rd, 2021, requiring him to 51 produce documents to the select committee and appear for a deposition. Staff engaged 52 in several discussions with Mr. Meadows' counsel regarding the scope of his production 53 and the subject matters to be developed at his deposition.

54           Staff provided Mr. Meadows' counsel with specific areas in which it is interested 55 and asked Mr. Meadows to identify those that would trigger a privilege assertion.
56 Rather than engage with the select committee, Mr. Meadows asserted that, as a former 57 White House chief of staff, he cannot be compelled to provide information to Congress.
58 He communicated his blanket assertion of immunity, in addition to claims of executive 59 privilege, in writing to Chairman Thompson.

60           On November 12th, 2021, the select committee convened the scheduled 61 deposition of Mr. Meadows after the current White House indicated, in writing, that 62 President Biden would not assert any immunity or privilege that would prevent Mr.

63 Meadows from appearing and answering the committee's questions.

64 Mr. Meadows did not appear for that deposition on November 12th, as indicated 65 in his prior correspondence.

66 He also failed to produce any documents responsive to the select committee's 67 subpoena or a privilege log asserting claims of privilege for specific documents.

68 After Mr. Meadows failed to appear for his deposition or produce documents, 69 select committee staff engaged in further discussions with Mr. Meadows' counsel 70 regarding the status of his noncooperation.

71 Mr. Meadows ultimately agreed to produce some documents and to appear for a 72 deposition today, December 8th, 2021, at 10 a.m., an offer which the chairman extended 73 to him as a good-faith effort to enable Mr. Meadows to cure his failure to comply with 74 the September 23rd subpoena and provide information relevant to the select 75 committee's investigation.

76 Mr. Meadows has now produced documents. Counsel made clear that Mr.
77 Meadows intended to withhold some responsive information due to a claim of executive 78 privilege. He agreed to produce documents he believes are not covered by that or any 79 other privilege and to produce a privilege log identifying responsive documents withheld 80 due to such privilege assertions.

81 He also agreed to appear for a deposition, at which he would be asked questions 82 on subject matters relevant to the select committee's inquiry, as identified in our prior 83 correspondence, and either answer the questions or articulate a claimed privilege.

84 We agreed with Mr. Meadows' counsel that this production and deposition would 85 clarify Mr. Meadows' position on the application of various privileges and create a record 86 for further discussion and consideration of possible enforcement by the select 87 committee.

88           Consistent with that agreement, Mr. Meadows did produce documents and 89           privilege logs. More specifically, he produced approximately 6,600 pages of records 90           taken from personal email accounts he used to conduct official business, as well as a 91           privilege log describing other emails over which he claims privilege protection. He also 92           produced approximately 2,000 text messages, which Mr. Meadows sent or received using 93           a personal device which he used for official business, in addition to a privilege log, in 94           which he describes privilege claims over other withheld text messages.

95           Mr. Meadows was scheduled to appear today, December 8th, 2021, for a 96           deposition. However, he has not appeared and is not present today. We received 97           correspondence from Mr. Meadows' attorney yesterday indicating that, despite his prior 98           agreement to appear today, his position has changed and he would not appear.

99           We are disappointed in Mr. Meadows' failure to appear as planned, as it deprives 100          the select committee of an opportunity to develop relevant information in Mr. Meadows' 101          possession and to, more specifically, understand the contours of his executive privilege 102          claim.

103          Again, the purpose of today's proceeding was to ask Mr. Meadows questions that 104          we believe would be outside of any cognizable claim of executive, attorney client, Fifth 105          Amendment, or other potentially applicable privilege.

106          Our hope is that he would answer those questions, which would materially 107          advance the select committee's investigation, given Mr. Meadows' service as White 108          House chief of staff. We expected that he would assert privileges in response to various 109          questions, articulating the specific privilege he believes is implicated and how it applies to 110          the question asked. We planned to evaluate Mr. Meadows' privilege assertions after 111          today's proceeding, engage in further discussions with Mr. Meadows' counsel, and 112          consider whether enforcement steps were appropriate and necessary.

113           Mr. Meadows' failure to appear for today's deposition deprives us of the 114 opportunity to engage in that process. Instead, we are left with Mr. Meadows' 115 complete refusal to appear for his deposition or cure his willful noncompliance with the 116 select committee's subpoena.

117           Had Mr. Meadows appeared for his deposition today, we would have asked him a 118 series of questions about subjects that we believe are well outside of any claim of 119 executive privilege. More specifically, we would have asked Mr. Meadows questions 120 about his use of personal email and cellular phones.

121           Mr. Meadows' document production includes documents taken from two Gmail 122 accounts. We would've asked him how and for what purpose he used those Gmail 123 accounts and when he used one of them as opposed to his official White House email 124 account. We would've similarly asked him about his use of a personal cellular 125 telephone.

126           We would have sought to develop information about when Mr. Meadows used his 127 personal cell phone for calls and text messages and when he used his official White House 128 cell phone for those purposes.

129           Mr. Meadows' production of documents shows that he used the Gmail accounts 130 and his personal cellular phone for official business related to his service as White House 131 chief of staff. Given that fact, we would ask Mr. Meadows about his efforts to preserve 132 those documents and provide them to the National Archives, as required by the 133 Presidential Records Act. Finally, we would have asked Mr. Meadows about his use of a 134 signal account, which is reflected in the text messages he produced.

135           In addition, we would have asked Mr. Meadows about particular emails that he 136 produced to the select committee. We do not believe these emails implicate any valid 137 claim of executive or other privilege, given that Mr. Meadows has produced the emails to 138 the select committee.

139 Specifically, we would've asked Mr. Meadows about emails about the Electoral 140 Count Act and the prospect of State legislators sending alternate slates of electors to 141 Congress, including a November 7th, 2020, email with attachments. We would've asked 142 him about emails reflecting the Trump campaign's effort to challenge election results, 143 including a December 23rd email from Mr. Meadows indicating that, quote, "Rudy was 144 put in charge. That was the President's decision," end quote, that reflects a direct 145 communication between Mr. Meadows and the President.

146 We would've asked him about emails from Mr. Meadows to leadership at the 147 Department of Justice on December 29th and 30th, 2020, and January 1st, 2021, 148 encouraging investigations of suspected voter fraud, including claims that had been 149 previously rebutted by State and Federal investigators and rejected by Federal courts.

150 We would have asked Mr. Meadows about emails regarding the deployment of 151 the National Guard on January 6th, including a January 5th email from Mr. Meadows in 152 which he indicates that the Guard would be present at the Capitol to, quote, "protect 153 pro-Trump people," end quote.

154 In addition, we would have asked Mr. Meadows about specific text messages he 155 sent or received that he has produced to the select committee. Given Mr. Meadows' 156 production of these text messages to the select committee, they do not, in our view, 157 implicate any valid claim of executive or other privilege.

158 We would've specifically asked Mr. Meadows about text messages regarding 159 efforts to encourage Republican legislators in certain States to send alternate slates of 160 electors to Congress, including a message sent by Mr. Meadows on December 8th, 2020, 161 in which Mr. Meadows said, quote, "We are," end quote, and another text from Mr.
162 Meadows to someone else in which he said that, quote, "We have a team on it," end

163 quote.

164 We would have asked Mr. Meadows about text messages sent to and from 165 Members of Congress, including text messages received from a Member of Congress in 166 November of 2020 regarding efforts to contact State legislators because, as Mr. Meadows 167 indicates in his text messages, quote, "POTUS wants to chat with them," end quote, 168 which reflects a direct communication with the President, as well as texts in December of 169 2020 regarding the prospect of the President's appointment of Jeffrey Clark as Acting 170 Attorney General.

171 We would've asked Mr. Meadows about text messages sent to and from another 172 Member of Congress in November of 2020, in which the member indicates that, quote, 173 the President asked him to call Governor Ducey, end quote, and in which Mr. Meadows 174 asks for contact information for the attorney general of Arizona to discuss allegations of 175 election fraud.

176 We would've asked Mr. Meadows about text messages sent to and received from 177 Members of the House of Representatives and the Senate about objections to the 178 certification of electors in certain States on January 6th. We would have asked him 179 about text messages sent to and received from a Senator regarding the Vice President's 180 power to reject electors, including a text in which Mr. Meadows recounts a direct 181 communication with President Trump who, according to Mr. Meadows in his text 182 messages, quote, "thinks the legislators have the power, but the VP has power too," end 183 quote.

184 We would have asked Mr. Meadows about text messages sent to and received 185 from a media personality on December 12th, 2021, regarding the negative impact of 186 President Trump's election challenges on the Senate runoff elections in Georgia, 187 President Trump's prospects for election in 2024, and Mr. Meadows possible employment 188 by a news channel.

189 We would've asked Mr. Meadows about text messages sent to and received from 190 an organizer of the January 6th events on the Ellipse about planning the event, including 191 details about who would speak at the event and where certain individuals would be 192 located.

193 We'd ask Mr. Meadows about text messages regarding President Trump's 194 January 2nd, 2021, phone call with Georgia Secretary of State Brad Raffensperger, 195 including texts to and from participants in the call as it took place, as well as text 196 messages to and received from Members of Congress after the call took place regarding 197 strategy for dealing with criticism of the call.

198 We would've asked Mr. Meadows about text messages exchanged with various 199 individuals, including Members of Congress, on January 6th, both before, during, and 200 after the attack on the United States Capitol, including text messages encouraging Mr.
201 Meadows to facilitate a statement by President Trump discouraging violence at the 202 Capitol on January 6th, including a text exchange with a media personality who had 203 encouraged the Presidential statement asking people to, quote, "peacefully leave the 204 Capitol," end quote, as well as a text sent to one of -- by one of the President's family 205 members indicating that Mr. Meadows is, quote, "pushing hard," end quote, for a 206 statement from President Trump to, quote, "condemn this shit," end quote, happening at 207 the Capitol.

208 Text messages: We would ask Mr. Meadows questions about text messages 209 reflecting Mr. Meadows' skepticism about public statements regarding allegations of 210 election fraud put forth by Sidney Powell and his skepticism about the veracity of claims 211 of tampering with Dominion voting machines.

212 In addition, we would've asked Mr. Meadows questions about specific 213 representations in a book he has authored, "The Chief's Chief," in which he recounts 214 various facts relevant to the select committee's investigation and directly describes 215 communications with the President, including on page 259, quote, "A few sentences later, 216 President Trump ad libbed a line that no one had seen before, saying, 'Now it is up to 217 Congress to confront this egregious assault on our democracy. After this, we're going to 218 walk down -- and I'll be there with you -- we're going to walk down to the Capitol and 219 we're going to cheer on our brave Senators and Congressmen and women. We're 220 probably not going to be cheering so much for some of them because you'll never take 221 back our country with weakness. You have to show strength. You have to be strong.'

222 When he got off stage, President Trump let me know that he had been speaking 223 metaphorically about the walk to the Capitol. He knew as well as anyone that we 224 wouldn't organize a trip like that on such short notice," end quote.

225 We would've asked Mr. Meadows about another passage in his book that appears 226 on page 261. Quote, "In the aftermath of the attack, President Trump was mortified.
227 He knew the media would take this terrible incident and twist it around. He also knew 228 his days on Twitter were probably numbered," end quote.

229 We would've asked Mr. Meadows about another passage on page 261 in his book.
230 Quote, "'Mark,' Trump would say to me, 'Look, if I lost, I'd have no problem admitting it.
231 I would sit back and retire and probably have a much easier life, but I didn't lose. People 232 need me to get back to work. We're not done yet,'" end quote.

233 We would've asked Mr. Meadows about another passage in his book on page 264 234 that reflects, quote, "On January 20th, with less than 5 hours left in his historic 235 Presidency, at a time when most outgoing Presidents would be quietly making notes for 236 their memoirs and taking stock of their time in the White House, President Trump was 237 being forced to defend his legacy yet again. 'How do we look in Congress,' President

238 Trump asked? 'I've heard that there are some Republicans who might be turning 239 against us. That would be a very unwise thing for them to do,'" end quote.

240 We would've asked him about another passage on page 265 of his book. Quote, 241 "But I assured President Trump, once again, that all would be well with the impeachment 242 trial, and we discussed what my role in the proceedings would be after we left the White 243 House," end quote.

244 We would've asked him about the passage on page 266 in his book where he 245 recounts, quote, "On the phone on January 20th, President Trump spoke as if he wasn't 246 planning to go anywhere. He mentioned the long list of pardons we hadn't been able to 247 complete largely due to the slowness on the part of various attorneys in the Federal 248 Government. He wondered again about the precise details of the impeachment trial, 249 including how much money the new lawyers would charge and how we could best defend 250 him against the Democrats' attacks," end quote.

251 These passages reflect direct communications between Mr. Meadows and 252 President Trump directly impacting his claims of executive privilege.

253 Finally, we would ask Mr. Meadows questions about statements in his book about 254 his interactions with the Department of Justice. Specifically, he addresses such 255 interactions with the Department of Justice on pages 257 and 258 of his book, in which he 256 says, quote, "It didn't surprise me that our many referrals to the Department of Justice 257 were not seriously investigated. I never believed they would, given the track record of 258 that Department in President Trump's first term," end quote.

259 Again, statements in Mr. Meadows' book directly reflect subject matters that the 260 select committee seeks to develop, and his public statements directly impact his claims of 261 executive privilege.

262 But, as of the current time, which is now 10:17, Mr. Meadows still has not

263 appeared to cure his earlier noncompliance with the select committee's September 23rd, 264 2021, subpoena. So we will not be able to ask any of those questions about the 265 documents and messages that he apparently agrees are relevant to the select committee 266 and not protected by any protective privilege.

267 I'd also note for the record that Congressman Adam Schiff, a member of the select 268 committee, has joined and, again, that member of the committee, Representative 269 Lofgren, has joined.

270 Before we close the record, Mr. Schiff or Ms. Lofgren, do either of you have any 271 comments to make for the record?

272 Mr. Schiff. I do not. Thank you.

273                     . Ms. Lofgren, anything?

274 Ms. Lofgren. I'm good.

275                     . Okay. Thank you.

276 Accordingly, the record of this deposition of Mark Meadows, now at 10:18 a.m., is 277 closed.

278 [Whereupon, at 10:18 a.m., the deposition was concluded.]
